

List of Websites with Daily Writing Prompts

*This is an extra resource to go along with the original article:
9 Easy Hacks to Make You a Better Writer*

Even when you're not writing the next great American novel, you can sharpen your writing by visiting these sites:

1. Writer Mag

Sample prompt: "Write about a secret wish that one of your characters has never told anyone. Then, write a scene, completely in dialogue, in which he or she tells someone about it."

2. Reddit Writing Prompts

Sample prompt: "'She said she loved him.' Insert the word 'only' anywhere in this sentence. It must be the final sentence of your story."

3. Think Written

Sample prompt: "Greeting: Write a story or poem that starts with the word 'hello'."

4. Creative Writing Solutions

Sample prompt: "Three characters enter a room; an old embittered woman, angry at life and full of regret, a young idealistic boy, and a mother of a newborn baby. How does each character describe the room?"

5. Writer's Digest

Sample prompt: "A ferocious storm is moving into your town: 40 mph winds, hail, the whole deal. But you are a postal worker, and you operate no matter the weather, out you go. As you drive along, a tree branch falls in front of you and you slam into it, knocking yourself unconscious. You wake up..."

6. Creative Writing Prompts

Sample prompt: "Write about something that bothered you this week."

7. Seventh Sanctum

Sample prompt: "She was always a woman."

8. Awesome Writing Prompts

Sample prompt: "Put this sentence somewhere in your story: 'Even though Jake ate the last of the pancakes, Leonard couldn't find it in himself to get worked up about it.'"

9. 30 Days of Writing Prompts

Sample prompt: "Describe the exact day you just had, but from the point of view of a psychopath."

10. LitBridge

Sample prompt: "A young character goes on a treasure hunt with friends. Somehow through this scavenger hunt, he stumbles upon a strange book. The book is written about holidays that he has never heard of before and celebrated in unknown places. What happens next?"