

Are You Ready for Edit?

Answer These Questions

*This is an extra resource to go along with the original article:
Critique Vs. Comprehensive Edit: Which Should You Choose?*

1. Have you taken a break from your manuscript before re-reading it (at least a week)?
2. Have you edited the first draft?
3. Are you turning in the second (or subsequent) draft for editing?
4. Have you read the manuscript aloud?
5. Have you asked friends and family to read the manuscript?
6. Have you submitted the manuscript to an online writing community for critique?
7. Have you scoured it for grammar snafus that spell check can miss?
8. Have you read this post?
9. Have you prepared yourself for an honest critique of your work?

If you answered yes to all of the above questions, you're ready for edit.